Day 3 -- Developing Math Skills

Dear (Parent),

This second essential skill is going to be really fun for you and your child!

The ancient mathematician Pythagoras wrote that numbers rule the Universe. And it's true...math and symmetry are found in just about every corner of nature and our lives.

One other thing: You already know this, but...

You are doing a great thing with your child! You are planting seeds of learning in his mind that will yield fruit for the rest of their life.

You can be sure of one thing... your child will go farther and reach higher because you are involved in teaching and parenting him.

So, congratulations! You're doing the right thing.

Ready? Let's go! Click here now for Day 3 -- Developing Math Skills
